Circuit Clerk political forum scheduled Monday

By BRENT MACEY
Candidates running in a special election Dec. 7 for the office of Hancock County Circuit Clerk have been invited to attend a public political forum Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the courtroom of the Hancock County Courthouse in Bay St. Louis.

James Rester, chairman of the Hancock County Republican Committee, the group sponsoring the forum, Wednesday noted, "We are trying to do something to call attention to this important election. We also wanted to bring out the qualifications of each candidate so the public can be made aware of who they will be voting for."

Rester stated each candidate will be given several minutes to answer the questions. Following the candidates' responses, the audience may be given the opportunity to ask each candidate general questions, Rester said. "We're not going to allow any personal questions regarding any of the candidates," Rester stated. The special election is required due to the resignation of former Circuit Clerk Henry Otis who pled guilty to the misdemeanor offense of failing to keep appropriate records at the office.

Powerline appeal expected to be decided in January

By BRENT MACEY
An attorney for Mississippi Power Company said Monday an appeal filed by Southern Mississippi Residents for Orderly Development is expected to be ruled on sometime in January of next year. Monday Mississippi Power Company Attorney Eaton Lang clarified last week's wire service and television reports which Hancock County landowners claimed were misleading the public. The landowners, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Brooke, said reports by the media gave the impression that SMROD had lost an appeal which would have blocked construction of a 500,000 volt powerline planned for construction across southern Mississippi. The Brooke's feared the news would cause landowners to stop fighting construction of the line and begin selling easement rights to the company. According to Mrs. Brooke, "A lot of people have been refusing to sell their property." Lang confirmed the Brooke's reports that the SMROD appeal was not ruled on at a Thursday hearing in Jackson. He added that he thought it would not be ruled on until January. Lang said action taken in Hinds County Chancery Court Thursday involved a motion filed by the Brooke family which requests that action involved in constructing the line be delayed until the SMROD appeal is ruled on.

"That was the only action taken," he said. Hinds County Chancery Judge Paul Alexander ruled against the petition filed by the Brooke's. According to Mrs. Brooke, the motion was denied because, "The amount of bond money needed to compensate Mississippi Power for the delay in construction would have cost in the millions." The judge in his ruling notes that sustaining the Brooke's petition would require such a large bond as to be prohibitive. In reference to the appeal filed by SMROD, Mrs. Brooke noted the Public Service Commission approved construction of the line last July after a five-day hearing. She noted SMROD has appealed that decision, arguing that the PSC does not have the authority to rule on the matter. SMROD members claim the PSC only has the authority to rule on intrastate matters. They claim the powerline is interstate in nature since it will cross the Mississippi-Louisiana border and eventually supply residents in Texas with coal powered electricity generated by the Daniel Electric Generating Plant in Pascagoula. Lang said some 19 volumes of transcripts will have to be considered by the Hinds County Chancery Court before appeal is ruled on. Additional briefs will be filed by both SMROD and Mississippi Power Company between now until mid-January, he said. In the meantime, Mississippi Power is in the process of buying a substantial amount easement property and is clearing land on the eastern section of the line, Lang said.

THANKSGIVING SERVICE—Members of the Methodist Church Choir of Bay St. Louis sing 'We gather Together' at a Community Service of Thanksgiving conducted at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church in that city Monday evening. The service was sponsored by ministers from eight local churches. Donations collected during the service will be donated to the Hancock County Emergency Relief Fund. Members of the choir are, from left, Art Bailey, Marilyn Bailey, Keith Britt, Carrie Smith, Carol Mahler, Barbara Hunter, Judith Gray and Mary Howard. (Staff photo by Brent Macey)

Annual Chamber meet to feature astronaut

John M. Lounge, a National Aeronautics and Space Administration astronaut, will be the featured guest speaker at the annual banquet of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce set for Friday, Dec. 10 at the Diamondhead Country Club. A social hour will begin at 6:30 p.m., with dinner being served at 7:30 p.m., a Chamber spokesman says. Lounge received a bachelor of science degree in physics and mathematics from the US Naval Academy in 1969, a master's degree in astrophysics from the University of Colorado in 1970, and is currently working on an advanced degree in operations research with specialization in human factors engineering, at the University of Houston. He entered active duty with the U.S. Navy following his graduation from the Naval Academy, and spent the next nine years in a variety of assignments. He completed Naval flight officer training at Pensacola, Fla., went on to advanced training as a radar intercept officer in the F-4J Phantom, and subsequently reported to Fighter Squadron 142, based at the Naval Air Station in Miramar, Calif. While with FS-142, Lounge completed a nine-month Southeast Asia cruise aboard the USS Enterprise, participating in 99 combat missions, and a seven-month Mediterranean cruise

Center designed to counsel small Coast businesses

By BRENT MACEY
A Gulf Coast branch of a Mississippi Small Business Development Center, designed to give free counseling assistance to small business owners along the Coast, was praised Monday by U.S. Rep. Trent Lott, who claimed the new center is an example of a natural partnership between education and business. The center, located in the Gulf Park campus of the University of Southern Mississippi, was the sight of ribbon cutting ceremonies Monday which were attended by Lott and a host of dignitaries from universities and colleges across the state. Lott, who was the keynote speaker, stated, "It is a worthwhile effort...to get universities to work with bur businesses." He said the center, funded in part by federal matching dollars through the Small Business Administration, is one way the government can attempt to combat high unemployment rates and record business failures. "If the federal government can spend some money for small businesses, this is the best way to create jobs and keep jobs in the future," he said. Lyn Spruill, dean of the School of Business Administration with the University of Mississippi, praised Lott for his efforts in Washington and the representative's work to have the program approved for Mississippi. "We wouldn't be here without Trent Lott and the tremendous effort on his behalf," Spruill said. Other dignitaries on hand for the occasion included Porter L. Fortune, chancellor of Ole Miss, who noted, "Small businesses are the most

Stolen Vo-Tech tools found in Laurel arrest

By ELLIS CUEVAS
A suspect in a recent Pearl River Junior College Hancock County Vocational and Technical Training Center burglary is in the intensive care unit of the Jones County Hospital, Investigator Delbert Seay of the Hancock County Sheriff's Department said Wednesday. Seay and Waveland Police Investigators Robert (Poochy) Taravouille and Sandra Henley visited Laurel and positively identified items taken from suspects car which were taken from the center; Trapani's Knock Knock, The Imperial Lounge and Reflections Lounge, all in Waveland; and an automobile burglarized on I-10 in Hancock County, Seay reported. Douglas Henry Creel, 23, of Bogalusa, La., was reportedly shot in the leg while fleeing an officer who stopped him for speeding on I-59 as an unidentified male companion fled into the woods on Monday. Tools found in Creel's car were identified as items taken in a burglary of the vo-tech center last Thursday, the Waveland and other Hancock burglaries, Seay said. Seay added late Wednesday, "We feel very strongly more burglaries in the area will be solved with Creel's arrest. We have placed a hold on Creel in Laurel and bond has been set at $100,000." Creel is also being sought in connection with the robbery of a VFW Hall in Picayune on Monday. Police indicated Creel is also wanted

Home of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Pittman at 226 North Beach Boulevard in Bay St. Louis.

Pittman residence featured in Christmas Tour of Homes

The Christmas Tour of Homes, sponsored annually by the Bay St. Louis Junior Auxiliary, will be Sunday, Dec. 5, from 2 p.m. until 5 p.m.

Included on the tour will be homes of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Pittman at 226 North Beach in Bay St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Ashman at 107 Lafitte Drive in Waveland; Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Murphy at 102 Mollere Drive in Waveland; and the Landmark Town Square Restaurant and Lounge at 210 Main Street in Bay St. Louis.

All of the homes will be open for the full three hours; an auxiliary spokesman says.

The home of the William T. Pittmans is built on the grounds of the original Episcopal Church and was designed by Artist Patti Banister.

Many architectural techniques were used in the original construction. The Pittmans have added to these with the addition of the antique leaded glass doors from England; the moldings, arches and mantles are from New Orleans; and the tiles are from Portugal.

The living and dining rooms are light and airy, overlooking the Bay. The library is decorated in a rich red, and the country kitchen is blue and white.

The upstairs bedrooms are accented with ruffled and lace with windows overlooking the water.

Flowers are a special love of the Pittmans and the garden is designed to have something in bloom all the time.

The theme of this home is 'A Storybook Christmas,' and will reflect the belief that you really can live happily ever after.

An added feature of this year's tour will be a Christmas boutique of hand-made items and food at the Ashman home, 'The House of Good Cheer.'

Tickets for the tour, which are $10 per person, are available at Ellen Kane Gifts, Anthony's Men's Wear, the Princess Shoppe, Adams' Lorraine Flower Shop and Pittman's Hallmark Shop, all in Bay St. Louis; the Golden Parrot in Waveland; Diana's Hair Artists in Diamondhead; and from any Bay Auxiliary member.

Tickets will also be available at the homes on the day of the tour.

He has received six Navy Medals, three Navy commendation medals with combat 'V,' and the Johnson Space Center Superior Achievement Award for service as a member of the Skylab reentry team.

Tickets for the banquet are $16 per person and advance reservations are required. The deadline is Dec. 6, and reservations may be made by contacting the Chamber at 467-9048.

Hancock Countian to head Gulf Coast Art Association

A longtime Hancock County artist and businesswoman is the 1983 president of the Gulf Coast Art Association based in Gulfport.

Nel Ducomb was elected to the post Sunday afternoon at the annual Fall General Membership Meeting of the association at the Long Beach Library.

Ducomb succeeds Jane Lassiter of Long Beach as president officially Jan. 1.

Re-elected are Ann Byrd, vice president, and Arlene Heston, treasurer, both of Gulfport.

Shirley Sweeney of Gulfport is the new group secretary.

Linda Rester of the Leetown Community was elected to the Association Board of Directors as the Hancock representative.

Re-elected board members representing various areas of the Coast include Joe LaRocca of Biloxi, Josephine Alphonso of Gulfport, Ruth Boles of Pass Christian, Gene Hart of Long Beach and Carol Darsey of North Harrison County.

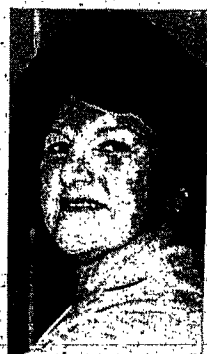

Ducomb said Wednesday, "We look forward to a year of interesting activities for member artists which include workshops by nationally famous artists."

"We urge artists from Hancock and the entire Gulf Coast to join the group so they may take advantage of our activities," she added.

Ducomb teaches fine art classes in Kiln, Bay St. Louis, and Gulfport, and is secretary-treasurer and graphics design director of Mississippi Monitor Publications, Inc. in Bay St. Louis.

She is also secretary of the St. Vincent de Paul Society of Annunciation Catholic Parish in Kiln.

She also frequently exhibits her paintings in public buildings along the coast.

Her works include a variety of subjects.

Ducomb formerly was an illustrator with the Times Picayune newspaper in New Orleans and a free lance artist for high fashion stores in that city for many years.

She also was a founder and two-term president of the former Hancock County Art League, former vice-president and the first woman officer of the Hancock Chamber of Commerce, and former charter president of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Advertising Club.

Ducomb is the wife of Wayne P. Ducomb Sr. and they are the parents three children and grandparents of three.

JIM ODOM
FOR CIRCUIT CLERK

To all Hancock County voters: Most of you know me, but if you don't, please let me introduce myself. I am Jim Odom, former general manager of WXGR Radio. I have been a friend and neighbor to all Hancock County citizens for the past eight years. By working at WXGR I have become acquainted with many of you by helping you with benefits and such.

I sincerely ask for your help Tuesday, December 7 by asking you to go to the polls and voting Jim Odom for Circuit Clerk of Hancock County.

I have quite a bit of experience where extensive bookkeeping and budget planning is involved, considering I have worked under federal and state guidelines for the past eight years. I assure you I can handle the duties of Circuit Clerk and will do so in a manner that will allow you to say "I'm glad I voted for Jim Odom."

It will be impossible for me to contact each of you before December 7th, so please accept this advertisement as a sincere request for your vote.

Thank You

Jim Odom

One of the most elegant and easy ways to say bye-bye-birdie to the holiday turkey is Turkey Divan, a luscious blending of turkey and broccoli in a creamy, cheesy, winey, spicy, crumbly overcoat.

For too many years broccoli wasn't a very fashionable vegetable, belonging as it does to the odiferous cabbage family.

Then one day some chef or other noticed that it tasted just fine with turkey and chicken, and another day some harried chef or other found little around the larder but cooked turkey and left-over broccoli when unexpected guests dropped in. From situations such as these are great dishes born!

The secret's in the sauce, laced with splashes of sherry or brandy, and in the way all the flavors blend together. This is a true party dish for any day, and an easy-on-the-cook spectacular, too, as it can be made ahead of time. (How about freezing some for Yuletide entertaining? Here's

TURKEY DIVAN

2 bunches, or 2 packs frozen broccoli
Two cups cooked turkey, in slices or chunks
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/4 cup flour
2 cups milk

2 Tbsp. grated Parmesan cheese
Dashes of Worcestershire, Tabasco, pepper, lemon juice, splashes (a jigger or so) of dry sherry or brandy

Make a cream sauce of the butter, flour and milk. Meanwhile, place the broccoli in the bottom of a casserole, top with turkey slices or pieces. Pour the sauce over, and top with seasoned breadcrumbs and Parmesan.

Bake a half hour or so in a 350-degree oven, and serve with a green salad and hot French bread.

If you're in a hurry, just mix a can of mushroom or cream of chicken soup with a half cup of mayonnaise and a dash of lemon juice, and proceed as above. . . but I find it just as easy to make my own cream sauce as to "de-lump" canned cream soups.

And, for an extra touch, you might put the dish under the broiler briefly to get a good browned-cheese crust. (Four to six servings). Copyright, 1982, Katharine D. M. Caire)

Bits 'n pieces

Many will be traveling for the weekend, and we urge every motorist to use extreme care when on the roadways and highways.

And please do not drive if you are drinking, as auto accidents with drinking drivers are on the increase.

A hospital or morgue is no place to spend a holiday. We know last weekend our local jail showed a large number of persons registered for driving under the influence and also public drunk. A jail is also no place to spend a holiday.

Persons on motorcycles should realize they have to observe traffic regulations just like those in autos and trucks.

Persons on motorcycles should not pass school buses when they are loading and unloading students.

On Monday of this week, it was reported some persons on motorcycles were passing a school bus on Lower Bay Road while loading students.

This is an illegal practice, as well as very dangerous, and we hope the responsible parties realize the danger.

On Friday a longtime friend of ours, Mr. Carl Smith, will celebrate his 96th birthday.

There are not too many people who reach the age of 96 and are as active as Mr. Smith.

It is very seldom that he misses a Rotary meeting on a Wednesday and he still drives his auto as well as his tricycle.

We wish Mr. Carl a Happy Birthday Day and many more.

Christmas is fast approaching and the Bay St. Louis Fire Department is hoping to again make it a special day for many deserving children of the area.

The Hancock County Doll and Toy Fund is funded by the United Way of Hancock County. The help from the United Way is great, but one big problem has come up this year. Many persons are unemployed and there are more deserving children needing toys than present fund will allow, according to Fire Chief Andrew Lizana.

Last year more than 300 children were selected by the Hancock County Welfare Department to receive toys from the Doll and Toy Fund.

Over the years, several merchants and individuals have made contributions to help the fund.

Persons with toys which their children have outgrown can also be used, according to Lizana. The firemen freshen them up and sometimes they look like new.

So if you have some toys not in use, give the fire station a call at 467-4736.

Let's help all the children of Hancock County have a Happy Christmas.

It was good to see the U.S. Navy becoming involved in the seizure of marijuana on the high seas.

We know there are many boats of all sizes at Port Bienville which have been caught by the Coast Guard and Custom Officers.

It is ironic the latest converted shrimp boat was seized by the nuclear-powered guided-missile cruiser Mississippi.

It is reported by the Navy as being the first U.S. Navy warship in modern times to assist in the interception of a vessel suspected of drug smuggling.

There is a need for the stopping of all drugs being smuggled into this country.

The People's business

A NEW DAY FOR EDUCATION

Mississippi voters have expressed their opinions as to how the state should pursue improvements in education. With last week's approval of the proposal for an appointed lay state board of education, Mississippi is clearly approaching a new day in its public school programs.

Many business, education, and civic organizations actively supported this proposed change to a lay board of education. These groups represent a broad cross section of Mississippi, and through their efforts we can look forward to getting to the business at hand—improving education for our citizens.

The approved constitutional amendment provides that the state superintendent will not seek re-election next year and will instead remain in office until the new nine-member state school board is appointed by the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and speaker of the House of Representatives.

Prior to the November 2 referendum, concern had been expressed by some voters over the fact that with the lay board of education, voters would no longer have the opportunity to elect a superintendent of education and would, therefore, lose control of administration of public education. However, the Mississippi Economic Council feels that control over state education will actually be increased because for the first time, citizens serving on the lay board of education will be directly involved in the administration of the state school system, just like they already are involved in public education at the local level.

The MEC believes that once constituted, this new lay board of education will indeed provide the kind of leadership that Mississippi education requires. And it will continue to be the responsibility of the voters to see that quality leadership is assured.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Minister-cousin of Biloxi jail fire victim cites need for Hancock County Jail improvements

Nov. 18, 1982

Dear Editor:

Today I had the opportunity of reading the article in your "Letters to the Editor" column that Rev. June Kirkwood, Truth and Freedom Prison Ministries wrote in reference to the horrible conditions of the jails on this Coast.

My husband and I are prison ministers also and we can relate well to what Rev. Kirkwood was saying. We get sick to our stomachs when we walk into our local jails and see the conditions they are in. Even a zoo is cleaner and more organized.

The inmate that is in the jail cell is a human being. No matter what crime they committed they are still human. No human being should have to live like an animal.

Jesus Christ never intended for us to live the life of an animal. We were created in His image and everyone should be treated as such.

The tragic fire in the Biloxi Jail should teach the officials a lesson that our jails are in desperate need of being modernized not only in emergency conditions but living conditions.

I lost a cousin in the fire in Biloxi, and this is why I am speaking up now. Maybe if enough of us would have taken notice of the conditions of our jails and banded together and sought prompt improvement earlier, this tragedy might have been prevented in some way.

I feel that it would do good for every taxpayer to visit your local jails from time to time and see how your tax dollars are being spent. Then speak up when you see things need improving.

I also feel that jail and prison ministers should be able to come into the jails along this Coast and minister to these inmates. God's work has no office hours. We are needed at all hours of the day.

I have been with my husband to the Hancock County Jail one Friday evening around 7 p.m. to see an inmate who needed to be ministered to. We were refused entrance very coldly and told that we could not minister to the inmate for the jailer was not in.

There should be someone there who has some sort of authority to allow a minister of God to minister to a soul in need of spiritual help. There should be a room for ministers to counsel with the inmate in at the jails. We should be respected for our position as we respect the officials.

We want to work with the officials not against them. That is not what God intends for us to do. Surely God is not pleased with the conditions that these inmates have to live in. They too are His children created by Him. And I know that He is certainly not pleased with how His ministers are being treated that are "called" to minister to those behind prison bars.

Let's unite together as God would have us and work together for the betterment of the jail and the betterment of the souls within them. Let's give the sheriff, Ronnie Peterson, a better place to work out of and be people that he could be more proud of.

He deserves it and surely God deserves better than we are giving in the advancement to His work in the jails. So let's work together. How about it?

Small-business

Angle

by Wilson S. Johnson

This is a column about shopping — not for a new suit or a new car but shopping for money. Bankers with whom I talk tell me that too many small-business people are woefully inexperienced in shopping for financing.

Business people admit they are frequently intimidated by bankers. Yet when I ask them how often they see their bankers, many say they go by the bank only when they need money.

Bankers like Dean Treptow of Brown Deer, WI, say they like to get to know their potential customers as well as possible.

Treptow says far from intimidating small-business people, he often lends them more than they ask for.

"When people ask us for financing the first time, they tend to be reluctant to ask for all the money they really need to get the job done owing to face the consequences later," Treptow says. "They don't because they think that if they ask for too much money, the bank will turn them down."

Probably one of the most important things for any small-business person to keep in mind when preparing to deal with the bank is that banks are businesses too. They make their profits by managing money, and they are run by men and women, not by machines or inflexible rulebooks.

A small-business man in Norfolk, VA, was astonished when his bankers agreed to a substantial loan request with what appeared to be minimal consultation. But he was well known to the bank, and he had carefully laid the groundwork for the loan request. His banker knew the loan was a good business transaction, and it didn't take him long to agree to the request.

Dean Treptow explains, "It's important to help the customer — especially the new customer — feel comfortable when dealing with the bank. We like to deal with reality rather than people's perceptions about what the bank will or will not approve."

The pamphlet, "Shopping For Money," produced by the National Federation of Independent Business, lists the following tips for small-business borrowers:

—Look for a bank that is small-business oriented.

—Choose a bank that knows the community.

—Work with the right bank officer.

—Prepare yourself before going in for a loan.

—Check with your accountant about which financing option is right for you.

—Consider the demands of the loan arrangement against your whole financial position.

—Plan your needs in advance and avoid borrowing unless absolutely necessary.

With interest rates coming down and small business poised for expansion, these banking tips may be helpful in the months ahead.

For the booklet, "Shopping For Money," write, "Shopping for Money," NFIB, 600 Maryland Ave., S.W., Suite 605, Washington, D.C. 20024.

MEDICAL ASSISTANCE—Mrs. Robert Dufrene, 58, of Westwego, La., is placed on a stretcher by Mobile Medical emergency medical technicians Tuesday following an accident at 11:50 a.m. at the intersection of Carroll Avenue and US-90. Dufrene was a passenger with Mrs. Louis Smith in a vehicle driven by Louis Smith, 60, of Metairie, La. Police reports indicate Mr. Smith attempted to cross US-90 from Carroll Avenue in a 1977 Thunderbird when he was struck by a 1968 Cadillac driven by Judy Bourgeois, 17, of Wheel Inn Trailer Park in Bay St. Louis who was traveling east on US-90.

Bourgeois and a passenger in her car, Mrs. Terrence Necaise, 21, of Bay St. Louis; and all the occupants of the Smith car were taken to Hancock General Hospital. Mr. Smith was reported in fair condition in the intensive care unit Wednesday. Mrs. Smith was transported to a New Orleans hospital Tuesday. Mary Perkins, Hancock General public relations director, Wednesday did not know the woman's condition or what New Orleans hospital she was transferred to. Other accident victims were treated and released Tuesday. Perkins said. (Staff photo by Brent Macey) by the Louisiana Department of Corrections for escaping a seven-year sentence for simple burglary and aggravated battery.

Some $10,500 of IBM typewriters were removed from the Vo-Tech near Stennis International Airport in addition to two wheelbarrows which were found later last Friday with three of the typewriters near the taxi runway of the airport.

Warrants will be issued on Friday by the Sheriff's Department and Waveland police, Seay added.

Seay urged any persons with information about Creel to please contact him or Waveland Investigators Tartavouille or Henley.

Candidates must qualify by Friday

Charles Gottchalk of the Hancock County Election Commission reports Friday is the deadline to file petitions as a candidate for the office of County Circuit Clerk.

The circuit clerk's office will be open to process absentee voters beginning Saturday until noon and Monday thru Friday of next week until 5 p.m., he says.

The office will also be open Saturday, Dec. 4 until noon at which time voting at the circuit clerk's office will end. Absentee votes received at the Bay St. Louis Post Office before noon on Dec. 6 will be counted, Gottchalk reports.

If no candidate receives a majority in the Dec. 7 election, a Run-off Election will be Dec. 21," he states.

The winning candidate will be sworn into office after election results are certified by the Hancock County Election Commission, the commissioner adds.

Investigator purchases marijuana

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Bay St. Louis Investigator Murray Ladner reports the arrest of a Bay St. Louis resident in connection with possession, intent to sell marijuana Sunday.

Ladner said, "Robin King, 21, 701 Union St., Apt. 27, was arrested for the alleged possession and intent to sell marijuana."

Ladner reported he had received a tip from an informant that King was selling marijuana from his home.

Bay Chief of Police Douglas Williams stated, "Upon Investigator Ladner entering the King residence he was able to purchase three lids of marijuana, and after the purchase King and a juvenile were arrested."

King's bond was set at $3,000 and a preliminary hearing is scheduled before Bay City Judge Joseph Benvenutti on Dec. 1.

Ladner was assisted by Bay Patrolmen Allan Bowers and Tom Ralph, and Auxiliary Officers Bob Weltz, Jim Koch, and Jim Clark.

SUSPECTS NABBED

Two juveniles were nabbed with four quarts of beer as they left the Jr. Food Store, St. Francis and Main Street, Sunday night, by Bay Patrolman Allan Bowers according to Chief Williams.

Williams said the two are charged for allegedly shoplifting and were turned over to The Hancock County Youth Court Juvenile Division.

Auxiliary Patrolman Jim Clark assisted in the arrests.

GUITARS RECOVERED

One person has been arrested and others are pending according to Williams in connection with the Nov. 10 burglary of Moran's Music, Bay St. Louis.

Williams allowed, "Kevin LeBlanc, 19, 725 Tennessee St., Gulfport, was arrested by Bay Detective Murray Ladner and Gulfport Police on Nov. 19, and several guitars were recovered and identified as being taken from Moran's Music."

LeBlanc is lodged in the Hancock County jail without bond due to parole violations according to Ladner. He also indicated other arrests are possible in the burglary.

Waveland resident arrested

By ELLIS CUEVAS

A Waveland resident was arrested on Tuesday in connection with the possession and intent to sell marijuana, Hancock Investigator Alvin Ladner said Wednesday.

Ladner said, "Leo Young Jr., 34, of Herlihy Street was arrested at his residence and is charged for the alleged possession and intent to sell marijuana."

Ladner said a tip was received and 18 lids of marijuana was confiscated.

Young, who is out on a $1,500 bond, is scheduled for a preliminary hearing before Justice Court Judge Horatio Frierson on Dec. 6.

The arrest was made by Ladner, Hancock Sheriff Ronald Peterson, Hancock Deputy Dennis Tartavouille and Waveland Patrolman John Wilkerson.

vulnerable and the ones that need counseling; that go under first and that need assistance."

Morgan Miles, a management analyst at the Gulf Park center, said the center is designed to give guidance to businesses which are too small to afford a consultant.

Miles agreed that the American farmer is a small-businessman and may seek assistance at the center; however, guidelines to determine a cut-off limit for what is considered too big of a business to receive advice, has not been established.

"I'd say 100 employees is a big business but we haven't set any definite limits," he said.

While the lead center of the MSBDC program is located at the University of Mississippi, the satellite center at Gulf Park is one of several located throughout the state.

Ole Miss operates the centers under a cooperative arrangement among all of the state's institutions of higher learning.

The Gulf Park center has been operating since February of this year and consists of three staff members and three graduate students.

Miles noted his office has already conducted six business forums along the coast including one at the National Space Technology Laboratories in Hancock County.

In addition to the forums, Miles said his office has already assisted some 235 small business owners in the Gulf Coast area.

Money Talk By Norine Barnes

LIFE INSURANCE

Don't expect life insurance to do more for your family than insure it, says the American Council of Life Insurance.

Although some persons may use insurance as an investment, its main purpose is to protect the beneficiary financially in case of death.

There are two basic types of life insurance: term and whole life.

Term insurance (less expensive at younger ages) insures for only a limited period of time. Generally, it is renewable. However, the premium goes up each time the policy is renewed.

Unlike whole life, term insurance does not build what is known as "cash value."

Whole life differs from term insurance in a number of ways. It remains in force until you die, unless you cancel the policy. The premium rate remains the same year after year, and it builds "cash value" which is the amount you would receive if you decide to cancel your policy. Whole life can be used as collateral if you want to borrow money on it.

Many families consider whole life a savings and investment tool. It is, to an extent, says the council, but that's not its true function, nor what people should consider buying it for.

The Council explains it this way: "Life insurance is not designed to provide for the possibility of economic gain in return for a risked sum of money. That is an investment. Nor is it designed to accumulate deposits of money building toward an individual or family financial goal. That is a savings account."

Whether you purchase term or whole life, the purpose of either is to provide a guaranteed death benefit to protect your dependents against financial loss.

Whole life guarantees this benefit will be available, no matter how long a person lives.

However, term insurance usually is not renewed after the insured person reaches a certain age, say 60 or 65.

Bay doctor named to medical board

Dr. Bertin C. Cheyis of Bay St. Louis has been named a diplomate of the American Board of Family Practice as a result of passing a certification examination offered by the ABFP.

He is now certified in the medical specialty of family practice. An intensive two-day written examination is designed to prove the candidate's ability in the areas of internal medicine, surgery, obstetrics, gynecology, pediatrics, psychiatry and community medicine, an ABFP spokesman says.

To qualify for the examination a physician must have successfully completed three years of residency training in family practice. There are some 388 such training programs in teaching hospitals and university medical centers across the United States, the spokesman notes. ABFP diplomates also must continue to show proof of competence in the field of comprehensive, continuing care of the family by being recertified every six years. No other medical specialty requires diplomates to "prove" competence on a continuing basis, the spokesman reports.

The latest group of diplomates brings the total number to more than 26,000.

Most are members of the Academy of Family Physicians, the national association of family doctors.

The academy was the first national M.D. group to require members to take continuing medical study, and was chiefly responsible for securing specialty status for family practice, the spokesman adds.

SBA offering business advice

Got a small business-connected problem? Just pick up the telephone and dial, toll free, "SBA Answer-Desk" at 800-368-5855.

That's the number of a new small business information and referral service being offered by the U.S. Small Business Administration in Biloxi.

Experts from SBA's Office of Advocacy will staff "Answer Desk" telephones from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday and will be prepared to handle questions from small business persons needing help or guidance with problems connected with their firm and government.

During other hours, calls will be handled by a recording device and answered the next business day.

"SBA Answer Desk is being started as an important and needed service to primarily help small business men and women deal with the complexities of government," Mike Shelton, acting district director, says.

"Full-time information specialists will take calls on this toll-free line. If they cannot answer a question directly, they will be ready to refer the caller to the appropriate government office in Washington or about the country. Our information specialists will be supported by a wide variety of resource materials," he reports.

In Washington, SBA Administrator James C. Sanders, says the SBA Answer Desk is another example of the Reagan Administration's interest in, and support of, small business.

He states, "SBA Answer Desk not only will help small business persons, but will enable us at SBA to become more familiar and aware of the problems and interests of the small business community."

Frank B. Swain, SBA's chief counsel for advocacy, says, "Our Answer Desk reflects the agency's responsibility to be a strong advocate for small business. It will help all of us at SBA to be more responsive to small business needs."

Shelton reports, "It is not the intention at the outset of SBA Answer Desk to become involved in case work or personal inter-governmental advocacy. We first want to study the kinds of questions and problems we encounter with Answer Desk calls."

"We will provide help and referral services to all who call. Although we probably will not be able to immediately resolve all problems, our staff will provide callers with information and referral service. In the long run, SBA will gain by analyzing suggestions and complaints and direct research and policy efforts to solve these problems," Shelton states.

The group delivered some 17 baskets to deserving families in the Bay-Waveland area. The baskets had all the ingredients for a complete traditional Thanksgiving dinner. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

UNITED WAY PAYROLL DEDUCTIONS—Russell Caldwell, right, manager of Delchamps in Choctaw Plaza Shopping Center in Waveland presents employees payroll deductions to Pat Harvill, Hancock County United Way Board of Directors member, in the amount of $1,429. Caldwell reported 92 percent of the local store's employees are participating. He said, "Delchamps encourages its employees to help the communities through United Way." L.J. Breaux, 1982 Hancock United Way chairman, said this week that the goal of $40,000 is nearing completion. Several regular contributors still have to make donations, he added. Legal advice free on first Wednesdays

The Harrison County Young Lawyers Division of the American Bar Association, in conjunction with South Mississippi Legal Services Corp., the Magnolia Bar Association, and the Gulf Coast Women Lawyers Association, reports the availability of the First Wednesday Legal Line, a telephone service to provide free legal information to residents of South Mississippi.

On the first Wednesday evening of each month, between the hours of 6 p.m. and 8 p.m., a staff of volunteer lawyers from the sponsoring organizations will answer legal questions from the general public.

The telephone number, 1-374-4160, is toll-free within the six counties of South Mississippi. Calls made from payphones must be collected. The lawyers, operating out of the main office of South Mississippi Legal Services Corp. in the Fountain Square Building in Biloxi, will answer as many questions as they can over the phone.

More complex problems will be referred to Mississippi State Bar Lawyer Referral Services.

The public is encouraged to call and ask questions on any legal matter.

Clermont Harbor man retires as commander

At a formal ceremony recently at the U.S. Navy and Marine Corps Reserve Center in New Orleans Capt. James C. Phelps of Clermont Harbor was officially "piped over the side," culminating more than 38 years of continuous service in the Naval Reserve, including active duty tours in World War II and the Korean War.

Phelps enlisted in the Navy as an apprentice seaman during World War II after graduating from Martin Behrman High School in Algiers, La. in 1943.

He took boot training in San Diego, Calif., amphibious training in Oceanside, Calif., and was assigned to the Amphibious Force of the Pacific Fleet, where he participated in the invasions of Iwo Jima and Okinawa.

His ship was sunk after the Okinawa invasion and he had island duty on Guam for four months until he returned to the United States and was assigned to a minesweeper in the Atlantic Fleet.

After World War II, Phelps attended Louisiana State University, and received a BS degree in 1950.

He was recalled to active duty when the Korean War started and was sent overseas immediately.

After several attempts to change his enlisted rate, he applied for a commission and was returned to the United States, was commissioned as an ensign and was assigned to the Construction Battalion Center in Gulfport.

He was released to inactive duty as a lieutenant at the end of 1953 and has remained in the Naval Reserve in a drill status continuously, serving in six different reserve units. In 1973 he was promoted to the rank of captain. He has been a dual driller for the past 10 years, representing the U.S. Naval Academy as a Blue and Gold Naval Academy information officer in the New Orleans area.

At the time of his retirement, Phelps was commanding officer of a supply and logistics volunteer training unit in New Orleans.

He was awarded a letter of Emily Phelps is the daughter of the late Dr. R.N. Whitfield, long-time director of the Bureau of Vital Statistics, Mississippi State Board of Health.

The couple reside in Clermont Harbor.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

for the

MISSISSIPPI COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT BLOCK GRANT PROGRAM

Date: Monday, December 6, 1982
Time: 10:30 a.m.

Place: Hancock County Courthouse
Bay St. Louis

Hancock County is considering applying for a Small Cities Community Development Block Grant in the "Special Opportunities" category. Funds must be used to benefit low- and moderate-income persons, aid in the prevention or elimination of slums and blight, or to meet other community development needs having a particular urgency where no other funds are available. Hancock County is considering applying for funds for bridge repair and reconstruction.

Additional information can be obtained at the public hearing. The purpose of this hearing is to obtain citizen input regarding the proposed application.

All interested agencies, organizations and citizens are urged to attend.

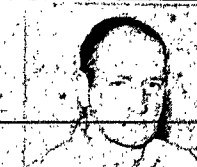

Although I am running for an elected position in County Government, I do not consider myself a politician in the usual sense of the word.

I think of myself as a young, family man asking each citizen of Hancock County for a job that I am well qualified to perform—that of Circuit Court Clerk. This job is a purely administrative position that requires the person in charge to have a good administrative background. With my college education and the eight years of administrative and court experience gained while employed with the State Department of Corrections, I feel that I can bring professionalism to the office of Circuit Court Clerk.

Vote Tuesday, December 7th for

Jerry D. HEITZMANN
CIRCUIT COURT CLERK

I WANT TO THANK

All the people that supported me in the recent school board election. I will strive to upgrade our educational system to the best of my ability.

Bay High varsity boys and girls sweep Pass basketball tourney

By BRENT MACEY.
The Bay High School boys' and girls' varsity basketball teams captured the Pass Christian High School Basketball Tournament last week and continued undefeated until meeting Stone County Monday in regular season play.

The tournament win for the Tigers didn't come as easy as it did for the Tigerettes.

The boys had to battle off a tough Long Beach team 52-50 in overtime during a semifinal match-up Friday to earn a berth in final's action against Pass Christian on Saturday.

In the Long Beach game, Tiger Barry Frederick scored 14 points, while teammates T.J. Favre and Kenneth Cline each scored 12.

Frederick scored the winning two points from the free-throw line, hitting both of his shots in a one and one situation.

Tiger Head Coach Jerry Spell noted his team played good basketball the entire tournament and out played a much bigger Long Beach team.

They were bigger but we were faster and we took advantage of that," he said.

Although the Tigers hit well from the outside in the Long Beach game, the team utilized its speedy offense and managed to move the ball around and also score on layups.

In reference to the Pass Christian game, Spell noted, "They (Bay High) followed the game plan to a 'T' and did everything they had to do."

T.J. Favre scored 16 points for the Tigers in the Pass Christian game, while Milas Harvey added 14 and Pat Barrett totaled 10.

The Bay High Tigerettes had an easier battle to the tournament championship, defeating Vancleave 55-26 in the first round of play, Pass Christian 59-49 in the semifinals and Hancock North Central 61-55 Saturday night in the finals.

Head Coach William (Zeke) Bradley said the girls, "Played good team ball and they hustled the entire tournament."

Michelle Dorsey was the Tigerette high scorer in the first two games, scoring 13 points against Vancleave and 23 points against Pass Christian.

Tigerette Terri Rhodes was second-highest scorer in those two games with 11 and 17 points respectively.

Dorsey had 27 rebounds throughout the tournament followed by teammate Dina Benoit with 17 and Sandy Reynolds with 16.

PASS CHRISTIAN
In other tournament action, the Pass Christian boys' scored an impressive 68-35 win over East Central in the opening game of the tournament and then roared past Hancock North Central 70-45 in a semifinal match Friday.

Pirate Brent Cannon lead the Pass with 32 points in the East Central ball game while gathering 11 rebounds.

Teammate Ben Fields had 14 assists while Ramone Henderson scored 15 points and Will Curtis added 11.

In the Hancock North Central game Henderson scored 17 points added 15 points and had 10 assists.

Curtis totaled 15 points and Cannon scored 11 while adding 7 rebounds.

The Pass Christian Lady Pirates moved by St. Martin 58-35 in the opening round of the tournament Wednesday before dropping their semifinal match to the Tigerettes on Friday.

Clara Saucier lead the Pass with 10 points in the St. Martin game and added 10 more against the Bay High Tigerettes.

HANCOCK NORTH CENTRAL
The Hancock North Central Hawks started off with an impressive 65-30 win over Vancleave in the first round of action on Thursday night and then ran into trouble with Pass Christian on Friday in a semifinal match-up.

Hawk Neal Ladner scored 16 points against Vancleave to lead that attack while Darrin Ladner tacked on 14.

In girls' action, Betsy Arcement directed the Hawkettes during opening round of the tournament against Pearl River Central.

Arcement scored 11 points while teammates Connie Ladner and Anne Hebert added 10 points apiece to guide the Hawkettes to a 43-33 season opening victory.

In the semi-final match-up against Long Beach, Arcement totaled 11 points again, and Herbert added nine as the Hawkettes squeaked out a 36-32 victory to place them in the finals against Bay High.

Lady Wildcats undefeated in first four ball games

Pearl River Junior College's Lady Wildcats defeated Itawamba 73-59 Monday night in first round of the Jones Classic.

Carmen Reed led the Lady

Cats, with 18 points while Sharon Williams netted 15 and Jackie Ridgway 12. The win put the PRC girls into the finals against host Jones, a 93-69 winner over Southwest

The win pushed the Pearl River record to 4-0 here in the early going of the '82-'83 season. The Lady Wildcats have two lopsided wins over ISUA and a four point de-sion over Meridian.

During the past two years Billy Holmes, the head coach, has led the PRC girls to 37 wins, two South Division titles and a couple trips to the National Region Seven Tournament.

"We are young and inexperienced," Holmes said about his newest edition. "But we have a lot of talent and a lot of hustle. I think we are going to get better and better."

Only two of the Lady Wildcats are sophomores. Sharon Williams, a Purvis point guard and Christine Fairley, a Hattiesburg forward, played last year. The other eight players are all newcomers.

Carmen Reed, Jackie Ridgway and Darlene Davis are all out of New Orleans. Demetria Jordan is from Denham Springs, La. and the others are from the PRC district.

Carolyn McLaurin, Petal; Marilyn Hart, Poplarville; Kell Lott, Petal; Donna Vesley, Sumrall; and Kim Ladner of Oak Grove make up the balance of the Lady Wildcats.

"They are exciting to watch," Holmes said. "They work well together."

Pearl River will open its South Division season Tuesday when they travel to Southwest to take on the Bears. Thursday, the Lady Wildcats will meet Gulf Coast at home. The girls' game will start at 6:30 p.m.

Tigers drop two to Stone county

Prep basketball results reported

The Bay High School boys' and girls' varsity basketball teams lost their first game of the season Monday to Stone County in away games.

The Tigers dropped their match 47-43 and the Tigerettes were turned back 61-33.

Tiger Head Coach Jerry Spell noted his boys' varsity trailed by one point with two minutes left in the game.

However, he said a crucial mistake in ball handling resulted in a turnover and the Tigers loss.

Girls' Head Coach Willie (Zeke) Bradley noted his team "was a tight as a drum."

"They never got into the rhythm of the game," he said.

Bradley speculated that the height of the Stone County team—a six-foot, four-inch center—was the major contributing factor which "psyched out" the girls.

"I think it will be a much better ball game next time we play them," he said.

On Tuesday both the teams returned to their previous winning season to maintain a 7-1 season record.

The Tigers dropped St. Stanislaus 67-54 with Milas Harvey scoring 17 points and T.J. Favre adding 14.

The girls had revenge on Our Lady of Victory from Pascagoula with a 73-17 victory.

Michelle Dorsey scored 16 points for the Tigerettes, Jonique Favre added 14 and Dina Benoit totaled 11.

The Tigers will take on Pearl River Central at the Bay Junior High School gymnasium next Monday.

Problems with the Tiger's own gymnasium floor has prompted all previous Tiger home games to be rescheduled to away games.

In other local basketball action, the Pass Christian boys' varsity downed St. John 61-38 and the Lady Pirates won 51-37 on Tuesday.

Pirate Ben Field led the Pass with 19 points, in that contest.

On Monday the Pirates dropped East Central 58-46 with Pirate Brent Cannon leading the Pass with 18 points.

The Lady Pirates were defeated by East Central 40-31.

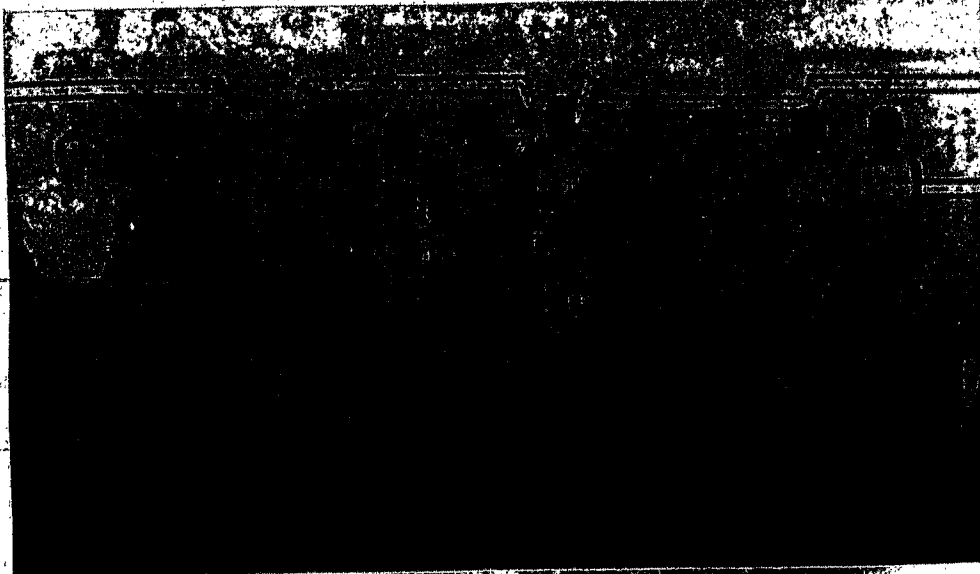

In other action Tuesday, the Hancock North Central boys' basketball team was defeated by Poplarville 63-51.

Hawk Neal Ladner lead Hancock with 23 points.

Pearl River Wildcats chalk up 2-3 record this season

Pearl River Junior College's Wildcats of Poplarville lost two of three basketball games recently to put their overall record at 2-3 for the Thanksgiving break.

But Head Coach Billy Holmes said he was not that disappointed. In fact, he was rather pleased with the Wildcats' performance.

The Cats defeated LSU 64-60 to get sweet revenge for the Tigers' season opening overtime win over the PRC roundballers.

The Cats also participated in the recent panola Junior College Classic in Carthage, Tenn.

The first night PRC lost 46-41 to home standing Panola and second night Wildcats dropped a very close 49-48 decision to the Kilgore Rangers.

"Even though we lost both games in Texas, we got a lot of mileage out of our team," said Holmes. "We may have found our identity."

The Wildcats entered the Panola Classic a super underdog but gave both all the opposition all they wanted. "We had less size and ability," said Holmes. But we didn't have less determination."

In the first ballgame the Wildcat defense stymied Panola's Dexter Shows to just 14 points, less than half of his 29 point per game average.

In the second, Texas outgunning the Cats, the high scoring Kilgore Rangers, who were averaging 93 points per game, down to just 49.

"We led the entire ballgame against Kilgore," Holmes said. "We should have won that contest."

According to Holmes, the Cats played very disciplined basketball both nights. "Maybe we have found the type game we need to play," Holmes said. "We had solid, gutting performances."

Freshman Rene Acker of Picayune and sophomore Ben Henry of Poplarville did an outstanding job at the guard positions.

"Everyone did real well. Kilgore and Panola are really loaded. They have excellent teams," Holmes said.

The Wildcats will not take the court again until they travel to Summit Tuesday to take on South Division foe Southwest. The Wildcats' next home game is against arch-rival Gulf Coast on Thursday.

Japan Bowl rescheduled on TBS TV

The day of the eighth annual Japan Bowl, showcases top U.S. collegiate football players, has been changed to Saturday, Jan. 22 at 9:05 p.m., due to scheduling conflicts in Japan.

TBS Sports will televise the all-star football classic, as East meets West in Yokohama Stadium near Tokyo, live on SuperStation WTBS on this new date.

Sports Nippon Newspapers, the Japanese promoters of the event, made the date change due to a scheduling conflict with Japan's Rice Bowl football game, a TBS spokesman says.

The TBS Sports Presents NCAA Football broadcast crew of play-by-play Announcer Bob Neal and Color Analyst Tim Foley will describe the action on the 1993 Japan Bowl for SuperStation viewers.

TBS Sports producer Don Ellis, a 31-year broadcast veteran who worked at NBC Sports for 16 years, will produce the telecast.

TBS Sports is telecasting the Japan Bowl live to the United States, exclusively on the SuperStation, for the second consecutive year.

The 1992 Japan Bowl was won by the West squad 28-17.

Landowners can improve, capitalize on hunting

By JIMMY BONNER
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

As desirable environments for wildlife continue to shrink, more hunters in the state are finding free hunting harder and harder to locate.

At the same time, hunters are increasing in number with more people apparently willing to pay for hunting privileges.

Landowners, who capitalize on the services they have to offer are benefitting from these developments.

"Landowners who manage their wildlife resources can realize more supplemental income through hunting arrangements," says Dr. Ross (Skip) Shelton, a wildlife specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. Shelton says evidence suggests many hunters are willing to pay for hunting deer, quail, duck and other game in high-quality hunting areas.

According to Shelton, three major types of hunting systems exist in the state in which hunters are charged various rates for hunting privileges.

The most popular fee hunting system is leasing, whereby property owners lease their lands to clubs, individuals or counties for hunting purposes, often on a seasonal or annual basis.

Landowner returns from hunting leases have risen from 40 cents per acre in 1968 to more than $2 in 1982, Shelton says. Delta areas lease for $2 to $3 per acre while other areas bring 75 cents to $1.50.

Shelton reports one 10,000-acre tract of land near the Mississippi River recently leased for $10-per-acre, and choice waterfowl leases bring $10 to $50 per acre.

Income generated through hunting leases is in addition to income landowners may realize from crop or other agricultural uses.

Shelton notes hunting leases in the Delta generally are more expensive than in other areas of the state because lands suitable for wildlife habitat are more scarce.

"Landowners also benefit from leasing because many hunting clubs invest large sums in building roads, culverts, fences and making other improvements which increase the value of property," Shelton says.

Another way hunters may gain access to hunting privileges is by permit hunting offered by large timber companies in the state.

"Although there are a number of variations in permit hunting, most companies base their fee on the area in which the individual wants to hunt, the individual's age, and whether the individual is a resident or non-resident," Shelton cites.

A variation of the permit system is used primarily by deer hunters to reserve a tract of land for hunting on a particular day. Fees are assessed by charging each hunter a fee or by charging the entire group a flat rate.

Shelton said hunting permits also may be bought on day-to-day or seasonal basis. Daily permits average $4 to $10 and seasonal permits cost $15 to $25.

One method landowners use in introducing a permit system is to post property and begin conservation practices. By improving the property and quality of hunting, the landowner can justify charging for hunting.

A third type of fee hunting is available through commercial membership enterprises for hunters who want high quality hunting and are willing to pay for it.

In the commercial membership system, the landowner sells or leases the right to hunt through an annual membership fee ranging from $500 to $1,500 per year.

"The landowner usually expends a considerable amount of time and money in managing and improving the enterprise for wildlife production," Shelton adds.

Owners of such commercial hunting operations often blend farming and wildlife conservation practices to complement each and to produce more income from the land.

Closed-circuit boxing telecast to be aired at Coast Coliseum

Wilfred (Radar) Benitez will defend his World Boxing Council Super Welterweight Championship against the Number One contender and former welterweight champion, Thomas (The Cobra) Hearn; and Wilfredo (Bazooka) Gomez, the WBC World Super Bantamweight king, risks his crown against World Bantamweight Champion, Guadalupe (Lupe) Pintor, in a Battle of Champions at the Louisiana Superdome on Friday evening, Dec. 3.

The entire program will be shown on closed circuit television at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum. The live presentation will begin at 8 p.m.

The fight card will also feature Milton McCrory, the Number One welterweight contender from Detroit, Mich.

Billy Lyons, local promoter, states, "The package of Benitez-Hearn and Gomez-Pintor, with three current champions, and one former titlist, is a tremendous offering."

The 24-year-old Benitez, at age 16 in 1976, became the youngest ever to win a world title, and is one of boxing's rare Triple Crown Champions. He won his first crown, the WBA Junior Welterweight title in 1976. In 1979, he defeated Carlos Palamino to win the WBC Welterweight title he now holds, with 12th round knockout of Maurice Hope.

Benitez has defended this title twice. He defeated Carlos Santos in 15 on Nov. 14, 1981, and on January 30, this year, he whipped Roberto Duran in 15.

The master boxer who can also punch, has won 43 of his 45 fights, with only one loss, and one draw. He has knocked out 28. His lone setback was a 15th round TKO against Sugar Ray Leonard on Nov. 30, 1979, which cost him the welterweight title.

Benitez stands five-feet, 10-inches in height, has a 70-inch reach.

Detroit's elongated Thomas Hearn, a six-feet, one-inch, will be 24 on Oct. 18. His height and 78-inch reach plus an aggressive style backed by two-handed power, have made him a fighter feared by most. If there is a flaw, it has been his stamina, which might have resulted in the only loss on his excellent record.

He was stopped in 14 by Leonard on Sept. 16, 1981, losing his 147-pound crown.

Hearn won the WBA Welterweight title with a spectacular second round kayo of Pipino Cuevas on Aug. 2, 1980. He defended three times, stopping Luis Primera, Randy Shields and Juan Baez before his fateful clash with Leonard.

Toward the end of 1981, he set his sights on the Super Welterweight title with a spectacular second round kayo of Pipino Cuevas on Aug. 2, 1980.

He defended three times, stopping Luis Primera, Randy Shields and Juan Baez before his fateful clash with Leonard.

Toward the end of 1981, he set his sights on the Super Welterweight title with a spectacular second round kayo of Pipino Cuevas on Aug. 2, 1980.

This year, he stopped Marcos Gualdo and Jeff McCracken. (McCracken won the National AAU middleweight championship in the Coast Coliseum in 1978).

All seats for the closed circuit presentation will be reserved. Floor tickets are $21; terrace and balcony seats are $16. A portion of the ticket price will be donated to the U.S. Olympic team for use in the 1984 Olympics.

Tickets are available at the Coliseum box office and the other ticket outlets along the coast.

Jackson State wraps up first undefeated season

Jackson State University scored two quick first quarter touchdowns and went on to defeat Alcorn State 20-16 down in Lorman Saturday afternoon to wrap up their first ever undefeated season in Southwestern Athletic Conference play.

The Tigers, 9-2 overall and 6-0 in SWAC play, has already clinched at least a tie for their second straight league championship and their second straight berth in the NCAA Division I-AA playoffs before playing the Braves. The victory over Alcorn insured the Tigers of sole possession of this year's SWAC title. On the second play of the game Tiger senior cornerback Derek McClanahan picked off an Alcorn pass giving JSU the ball at the Braves 25 yard line. Tiger quarterback Derrick McCall, who was starting for the first time since Oct. 9, hit tight end Cleo Simmons over the middle for 24 yards. On the next play McCall scored from the one and the Eric Dozier extra point gave the tigers a 7-0 lead.

JSU Tigers to battle E. Illinois Panthers

Jackson State University, 9-2, on the season, will play Eastern Illinois University in an opening round NCAA Division I-AA playoff game at 1 p.m. Saturday in Charleston, Ill.

For the Tigers, it will be their second straight appearance in the playoffs and third trip since 1978.

The Tigers earned an automatic berth in this year's playoffs by winning the Southwestern Athletic Conference title, Eastern Illinois, 10-0 on the season, was selected as an at-large team.

"We know very little about them," says Tiger Head Coach W. C. Gorden. "Looking at their record, they have to be a good team. When you get to this level, all the teams involved are good. I don't have any problem with who we are playing or where we are playing."

The Eastern Illinois Panthers are coached by Darrell

Mudra, who has compiled a 46-14 record in five years.

Mudra has also had head coaching experiences at Adams State, North Dakota State, Montreal Alouettes, University of Arizona, Western Illinois and Florida State. He has a career record of 156-84-3 over 21 years.

The Panthers, averaging 375.8 yards offensively, are led by senior quarterback Jeff Christensen. He has completed 153 of 301 passes for 2,270 yards and 21 touchdowns. His leading receivers are Jerry Wright (29 catches, 709 yards, 7 TD's), Roger Holotian (21-376-2, and running back Kevin Staples (25-198-3). Staples is the team's leading rusher with 1,012 yards and 10 touchdowns.

Defensively, the Panthers are allowing 236.3 yards per game. Linebacker Bill Mines with 128 tackles and cornerback Robert Williams with 101 tackles are the Panthers' leading defenders.

John McKenzie, who missed the Alcorn game with an injury, is expected to be ready for Saturday's game. McKenzie has completed 77 of 143 passes for 954 yards and seven touchdowns. If McKenzie is not ready, Derrick McCall will get the nod at quarterback. McCall has completed 56 of 122 passes for 959 yards and 10 touchdowns.

Tight end Cleo Simmons is the Tigers' leading receiver with 40 catches for 644 yards and seven touchdowns. The Tigers are averaging 317.5 yards offensively while giving up 211.6 yards defensively.

The winner of the JSU-Illinois game will advance to the second round against Tennessee State in Nashville, Tenn. on Dec. 4.

Booklet available offering safety tips

As one convert from jogging to racquetball explains her new enthusiasm, "Racquetball combines fitness and fun." Racquet sports—including racquetball, paddleball and squash—are booming in popularity, and as the number of players swells, so does the number of eye injuries, says the National Society to Prevent Blindness, Mississippi Affiliate.

Racquet sports-related eye injuries increased 40 percent last year over the previous year, with the largest number occurring in the 25 and over age group.

This past year the National Society assembled a team of prominent experts in athletics and medicine to set a strategy for nationwide campaign for eye safety on the racquet courts.

The immediate objectives of this newly formed Society Committee on Sports Eye Safety are to promote use of protective eyewear and reduce the injuries.

"Experience and skill level do not appear to reduce the incidence of eye injury. The best insurance against eye injury in racquet sports is appropriate safety eyewear," says Art Nabers, Safety Chairman.

"Players may not realize that a racquet-struck ball often travels at speeds around 100 miles per hour. Authoritative standards are being developed for safety eyewear," says Nabers, "but in the meantime we have a bulletin listing recommended safety eyewear, for persons who require corrective lenses as well as for individuals who don't need them."

The society urges racquet sports players and tennis, squash and racquetball clubs and associations, and schools where these sports are played to obtain a copy of its bulletin.

"Eye Protection Recommendations for Racquet Sports Players" is available free by writing, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope to: National Society to Prevent Blindness, Mississippi Affiliate, 115 Broadmoor Drive, Jackson, Miss. 39206.

Mississippi is an affiliate of the National Society to Prevent Blindness, which was established in 1908.

The National Society is the oldest voluntary health agency nationally engaged in preventing blindness through community service programs, public and professional education and research.

Mississippi Brownbuilder Mike Bryant: One of the Best

Mike Bryant, from Pascagoula, is helping build the economic growth and progress of his state as part of Brown & Root's worldwide engineering and construction team.

Mike joined Brown & Root in 1979 and is now a boilermaker. He and his wife, Ann, who is a mathematics teacher at Pascagoula High School, have three children and attend East Lawn Baptist Church. A member of the Lions Club and Pascagoula Jaycees, Mike enjoys playing on the Brown & Root softball team.

Another thing about Mike: he's one of the best. He's helping Brown & Root do a better job, because he knows his job and gets it done right.

Wherever Brown & Root works, we always look for people like Mike. We give preference in hiring to people in jobsite communities and offer them opportunities to advance as fast and as far as their abilities and merit take them. That way, we share the benefits of every job with local people and share the economic benefits of payrolls, purchases, savings and taxes with local communities and states.

Brownbuilder Mike Bryant helps us all by being one of the best.

Four local men training at U.S. Naval Academy

Four local men are among nine from the Mississippi Gulf Coast attending the U.S. Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md.

These men include David McDonnell of Diamondhead, Matthew Schatzle of Pass Christian, and Jimmy Collins and Dennis Dickenson, both of Bay St. Louis.

From their first day at the academy, they have learned to think under pressure, to discipline themselves to perform unpleasant tasks, to make quick decisions and to assume responsibility for their actions, says a Navy spokesman.

Last year as freshmen, McDonnell and Schatzle learned about the ships and planes in the Navy's arsenal, the spokesman notes.

Now, as sophomores, they have experienced first-hand training aboard some of those very ships.

McDonnell, for example, spent almost a month aboard a guided-missile cruiser in the Mediterranean. While aboard the cruiser, he circulated throughout the ship, working with the crew in the combat information center and in the deck and engineering divisions. It wasn't all work, however, since the ship made port stops in Italy and Spain, the spokesman reports.

"I learned about everything from the boiler and steam turbine to the radar and launch systems," says McDonnell, the son of retired Navy Captain and Mrs. John R. McDonnell of 6820 Hilo Street in Diamondhead.

Another sophomore, Matt Schatzle, served aboard a frigate that was involved in training exercises in the Cuba, Puerto Rico, and Bahamas area.

Schatzle is the son of Navy Captain and Mrs. Francis J. Schatzle of 136 Espy Avenue in Pass Christian.

Both at the academy and on cruises, the midshipmen look at various leadership styles and decide what kind of officers they would like to be, the spokesman explains.

He says, "I was impressed by the crew's engineering skills and by their pride and professionalism in what they were doing."

Dennis Dickenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dickenson of Bay St. Louis, plans to become an officer aboard a ship.

Dickenson has served in leadership positions and is presently a platoon commander responsible for the professional development of 45 midshipmen.

In addition to professional and leadership training, Dickenson is also earning his bachelor of science degree.

Jimmy Collins, son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Collins Sr. of 519 Highland Drive in Bay

St. Louis, is presently an exchange student for one semester at the Coast Guard Academy.

The midshipmen are also required to participate in sports. Collins sails with the varsity dinghy team, McDonnell plays junior varsity tennis, and Matt Schatzle is trying out for the varsity golf team.

RHEUMATIC PAINS

When the weather is rapidly changing or consistently bad, people with rheumatic pains feel them more acutely. Many of these rheumatic pains are caused by nerve irritations. When a bone of the spine slips a little out of its normal position, this causes pressure on a nerve fiber, creating nerve interference and irritations.

Dr. Wm. L. POWELL, creating nerve interference and irritations, and even the whole course of the nerve trunk may become mildly inflamed, giving pain sensations along the course it travels. One day this patient may feel it in the knee and the next day the wrist and so on. It has been found that many of these rheumatic pains respond exceptionally well with the scientific application of Chiropractic adjustment from nerves, removing the irritations and inflammations of the nerve fibers, so the nerves are once again able to transmit their signals without the sensations of pain. Try Chiropractic care. You have nothing to lose but your poor health.

Bay women realtors attend convention

Nell Frisbie and Bobby Boyd of Nell Frisbie, Inc. Realtor in Bay St. Louis were among almost 300 individuals who attended the Mississippi Association of Realtors' 57th Annual Convention recently at the Biloxi Hilton Hotel.

Frisbie and Boyd attended educational sessions on successful selling-through communication, issues related to the real estate industry and the economy, professionalism and specialty education, the political scene and an update of legislative issues facing the real estate industry, an association spokesman says.

Dottie Lanier of John Phillips and Associates of Gulfport was awarded Mississippi Realtor Associate of the Year plaque at the convention.

Realtor associates from the 27 realtor board throughout the state competed for the award.

"The honor is presented each year to the Realtor Associate who best fulfills the strict criteria established for outstanding performance in the real estate profession; good citizenship, including civic and church activities; continuing education and participation in local, state, and national association activities," the spokesman explains.

Prior to receiving the state award, Lanier was awarded the Realtor Associate of the year plaque by the local Gulfport Board of Realtors.

Lanier is the mother of five and grandmother of five. She resides in Saucier with her husband Starlin and her 16-year-old son.

The Mississippi association is a statewide professional trade association representing more than 2,500 members of some 27 local realtor boards in Mississippi.

Youth vision problems difficult to detect

Parents are often astonished to learn their alert preschooler with the sparkling eyes has a vision problem. A vision problem can only rarely be seen, as in cases of crossed eyes.

But a vision problem can be detected at any age, says Edith Mullin of the National Society to Prevent Blindness Mississippi Affiliate in Jackson.

Some 10 years ago the society introduced the Home Eye Test, a do-it-yourself way for parents to test their youngsters; vision in the home setting.

Since then, some nine million Home Eye Tests have been distributed, allowing parents to become aware of possible vision problems in their children, and to get professional eye exams for those children who fail the vision test.

detection and correction of visual defects," he notes.

"A child is never too young to have an eye disorder or a vision problem, and many of these defects can be most successfully treated in the early years. Early diagnosis and treatment is imperative for some conditions, if normal or optimal vision is to be developed," he states.

Barnett emphasizes that vision problems can disguise themselves as behavioral problems, clumsiness, "slowness," a withdrawn personality or low intelligence; or even disguise themselves completely, so that there are no outward indications.

"Children with poor vision, blurred vision, even double vision, find a way of handling themselves. They have nothing with which to compare their distorted view; they don't know what they should see, only what they do see," he explains.

One of every 20 children, ages three to six, is already grappling with a vision problem based on NSPB statistics—that's 500,000 children nationwide.

A common eye condition among youngsters is amblyopia, also known as lazy eye. Usually caused by a dimness of vision in one eye, amblyopia occurs as the child visually ignores this weaker eye; vision in the eye can become permanently impaired from lack of use, unless treatment is begun early. According to eye physicians, amblyopia requires professional care before the age of six.

Amblyopia, and other common visual problems such as nearsightedness and astigmatism, can be picked up with the simple E Test, a matching game that does not require alphabet recognition. The E Test is used in the Home Eye Test, and in the organized vision screenings run by NSPB-trained volunteers in communities across the country.

To find out more about children's vision problems, the Home Eye Test or vision screenings in your area, write: National Society to Prevent Blindness, Mississippi Affiliate, 115 Broadmoor Dr., Jackson, Miss. 39206.

Coast Episcopal conducts ball

Coast Episcopal Schools of Bay St. Louis and Pass Christian hosted its first Annual Charity Ball at the Diamondhead Country Club recently.

The theme of the ball was Finite Reflections and Mary Ellen Davison of Sidel created an etching for the event. The etching was among gifts raffled off at the end of the evening.

The evening consisted of a dinner followed by dancing by the Esquires of New Orleans. There was a silent auction of beautiful handmade holiday decorations, wreaths and baskets, a Clementine Hunter painting, a lovely hand sewn French lace bonnet, topiaries, a load of firewood, china dolls and much much more.

Proceeds from the ball will benefit several departments of the school and also be utilized to enclose the gymnasium at the high school in Pass Christian, the spokesman notes.

Class slated at hospital

Hancock General Hospital in Bay St. Louis and William Carey College in Hattiesburg will co-sponsor a course, entitled "Physical Assessment in Health's Illness," beginning Thursday, Dec. 2, at 3 p.m.

The class, which will be conducted for 10 weeks, will be each Thursday from 3 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. in a classroom in the rear of the hospital.

Registration for the class will be on the evening of the first class, Dec. 2.

Participants in the course will be allowed to take it for credit or for auditing purposes, a hospital spokesman reports.

Interested persons should contact Kathy Savage, director of nursing, at 467-9081, Extension 185.

State education committee supports proposal change

The Mississippi Advisory Committee on Education of Handicapped Children has joined others across the country in applauding the U.S. Department of Education's withdrawal of some controversial proposed regulations.

Correspondence explaining the group's position will be sent to Education Secretary Terrel Bell.

After substantial public outcry, Bell recently decided to remove six provisions from his proposed changes in the regulations for the Education for All Handicapped Children Act (Public Law 94-142).

The items Bell said he is dropping are those that would lessen or remove requirements for schools to place handicapped children in the least restrictive environment, provide related services, obtain parental consent prior to evaluation or initial placement, follow certain time lines, use only certain types of qualified personnel and have evaluation personnel attend individualized education program planning sessions.

The 23-member advisory committee is composed of persons with disabilities, parents of handicapped children, teachers of handicapped children, state and local education officials, and special education program administrators.

The committee meets several times during the year and makes recommendations to the State Department of Education regarding special education matters.

BUCKLED-IN—State Emergency Medical Services Director Wade N. Sprull Jr., carefully places his young son, Tripp (Wade N. Sprull, III), into an approved infant automobile safety seat. After a baby's crucial first month, the automobile becomes the leading threat to his life. Sprull and other State Department of Health workers aim to reduce this needless death and disability through encouraging the use of infant safety seats.

Cancer Institute awards contract to research lab

Personnel in several sections of the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory in Ocean Springs recently began work in a new contract awarded by the National Cancer Institute.

The contract provides a total of $49,371 in support and will extend over a period of four years, Dr. Harold D. Howse, director of the laboratory states.

The laboratory will provide NCI with information regarding the toxicological, cellular, and biochemical responses of several species of laboratory-reared fishes to a composite of water-borne chemicals, he explains.

Laboratory personnel involved in the project are Dr. Robin M. Overstreet, head of the parasitology section; Dr. William E. Hawkins, head of the microscopy section; Dr. William W. Walker, toxicology group leader; and Dr. Adrian R. Lawler, experimental organism culture group leader.

PAPERS PRESENTED—Dr. David Cook, head of the laboratory microbiology section, presented two papers at the South Central Branch meeting of the American Society for Microbiology recently at the University Medical Center in Jackson.

The papers presented are entitled "Elimination of Enteric Bacteria and Viruses from Contaminated Oysters" and "Distribution and Taxonomy of Bacillus Species in the Mississippi Sound."

UNO reports record fall enrollment

The University of New Orleans reached the highest enrollment in its 24 year history, with 16,365 students registered for the 1982 fall semester. This total represents about a two percent increase over the 1981 fall enrollment, according to W. Richard Burleson, UNO director of institutional research.

UNO's General Studies program, with a total enrollment of 135, had the highest percentage of increase, 32 percent. It was followed by the College of Sciences, with a total enrollment of 1,223 students and an increase of 16 percent, and the College of Engineering, which with 791 students had an eight percent increase.

The Junior Division had the highest student increase, registering an additional 209 students, or 6,710 for a three percent increase over last fall. The College of Business Administration, with 2,283 students, also showed a three percent increase. Burleson noted that the number of new freshmen declined slightly, a fact he attributes to the decline in the number of high school graduates in the area. However, the number of continuing students increased by 654 students, almost a six percent increase.

Child safety seats available at health department office

Some 17 children under age five died and 333 were injured in Mississippi automobile accidents last year, making auto accidents the leading cause of death and injury among Mississippi children.

Many died or suffered injury because their parents could not afford or did not know about infant automobile safety seats, a State Board of Health spokesman says.

To help reduce these deaths and injuries, the Governor's Highway Safety Program will place 810 infant safety seats in the 82 county health departments statewide. The new program is a cooperative effort between the Mississippi State Department of Health and the Governor's Highway Safety Program.

"The safety seats will be loaned to maternity clients who meet the health department's low-income criteria. Health department personnel will teach parents the importance and proper use of the safety seats," the spokesman states.

The infant carriers, designed for children under 20 pounds, are installed in the car facing rearward. The infant, semi-reclined, is secured to the automobile by a harness and the lap seatbelt.

"A minimal deposit of $10 will be required. $6 will be returned to the client upon return of the safety seat, with the remaining $4 to be used for seat maintenance," the spokesman reports.

"This preventive approach to reducing the tragic loss of life and serious injury of our young citizens is a good example of using a safety practice in public health service," notes State Health Officer Dr. Alton B. Cobb.

"Preventing preventable losses and insuring that Mississippi has healthy children who can grow into important public health priorities," he says.

"We appreciate this cooperative opportunity with the Governor's Highway Safety Program and anticipate that the 'ripple effect' of this project will result in public awareness of the need to provide safe seating in automobiles for all our children," Cobb adds.

This cooperative infant safety seat project between the State Department of Health and the Governor's Highway Safety Program complements similar safety practice promotional efforts of such groups as the American Academy of Pediatrics, medical auxiliaries, and hospital auxiliaries. Automobile accidents claimed the lives of 20 Mississippi children between five and 15 in 1981; another 726 were injured, according to a Mississippi Department of Public Safety survey.

Although the percentage of adults using seat belts has increased, the survey shows that only about eight percent of Mississippi's children are now restrained during travel. Studies have also shown that child restraint systems reduce the chances of death by over 90 percent and serious injury by 80 percent.

Children under four cannot be protected in a crash by an adult lap belt. Even the strongest arms can't protect an infant in a collision.

At a mere 20 miles per hour, a 15-pound baby is thrown at a force equal to 300 pounds. Strong, well built, tested, and approved child restraint systems are the only safe way for children to ride.

Hancock schools seek handicapped young people

The Hancock County School district is participating in an ongoing statewide effort to identify, locate, and evaluate children through the age of 21 who are physically, mentally, communicatively, and/or emotionally handicapped.

"Early identification of children in need of special educational experiences is most important to each child. Furthermore, this information gathered from contacts with parents and other agencies will be used to help determine present and future program needs as progress is made toward the goal of providing a free appropriate public education to all handicapped children," Superintendent Terrell Randolph reports.

Information which could identify an individual child will be maintained by this agency and will be provided to other agencies only in accord with the Family Rights and Privacy Act and EHA-B, he says.

"As a parent, you are guaranteed the right to inspect any such information about your child and to challenge its accuracy." Access to this information is forbidden to any unauthorized person without informed consent," Randolph states.

Harlin E. Hill is child find director for the Hancock district.

His duties include implementing child identification, location and evaluation of children ages three through 21 who are handicapped and are in need of special education and related services; and working with the Department of Public Welfare, Department of Mental Health, Local Education Agencies, mid-levels, physicians, and other individuals to identify and locate children out of school and in school who may be in need of special education services.

"Once a referral is made, Hill has the responsibility to insure the referral-to-placement procedures are followed and to work with the local survey committees at each school to implement this procedure," Randolph explains.

For more information regarding the collection, maintenance, and use of data collected about children, contact Hill by calling 467-4466 or writing P.O. Box 269, Bay St. Louis, Ms 39520.

I HAVE BEEN REAL GOOD!—Joey Slocum is all smiles as he answers Santa about how good he has been during the past year. Joey placed his order with Santa during his annual visit to Sears Catalog Sales in Bay St. Louis. Joey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Slocum. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

As the holidays draw near, most of us have high hopes of being together with family and friends, exchanging gifts, feeling the love and joy of the season.

Some lonely people, or families barely making ends meet, come to The Salvation Army at Christmastime.

The Army provides dinners, companionship, perhaps toys or warm clothing—and sometimes it helps the drifter or the troubled family to make a new start in life.

Thanks to your support, The Salvation Army offers year-round programs to reach out to youngsters, families, oldsters; to the alcoholic, discharged prisoner, teenage runaway; to those in institutions and those who have no home at all.

By giving to The Salvation Army, you give joy to a world that greatly needs it.

Salvation Army to provide Christmas cheer

"Sharing Is Caring" is The Salvation Army's year around theme, but never is it carried out so completely as during the Christmas season.

The tinkling of the bells at Salvation Army kettles plus the jingling of coins and swish of folding money that find their way into the kettles will help finance Christmas cheer for approximately 4,000 persons.

Generous citizens will contribute directly to the Christmas Cheer Campaign through the Gulfport and Biloxi offices as the result of a mail appeal. These offices serve all of Harrison, Hancock, Stone and Pearl River Counties.

"The demand is especially heavy this year due to unemployment and other economic conditions," according to Major Robert B. Kitchen, commanding officer of the Gulfport Corps.

He said the Gulfport and Biloxi Corps are preparing to provide food for some 1,000 needy families. In addition, there will be about 6,000 toys for approximately 2,500 children.

Another part of the program

AND I WANT!—Clinton Sterling takes his time explaining in detail to Santa how good he has been during the year and what he expects for Christmas. He visited Santa with his mother Myra Sterling to place his order. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

will be some 300 dinners for individuals at the Gulfport Lodge.

Then to reach shut-ins, Salvation Army staff and volunteers will visit some 1,500 individuals in institutions during the season. These people are in institutions such as Veterans Hospitals, nursing homes and the like.

Between now and Christmas, volunteers from service clubs, and individuals wanting to help, will ring the bells at eight locations in Gulfport and West Harrison County, and in as many in Biloxi and East Harrison County.

BABY DRESSES—Christmas is the time for little girls to receive a new dress. Debbie diSalvo, of Kent's at Our Shopping Center in Waveland, displays many styles of girls dresses offered as Christmas gifts. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

NEW CAR FOR CHRISTMAS—A new auto is a very popular gift for a person really wanting to get a gift that is a little extra. John Lowe, salesperson at Turan-Lane Chevrolet in Bay St. Louis, recommends a 1983 Camaro. In Hancock County auto dealerships offer Buicks, Chevrolets, Fords, Oldsmobiles and Pontiacs. SAFETY AND FUN GO HAND-IN-HAND!

Long before a new toy makes its final journey down the assembly line and ends up as a child's very own prized possession, it undergoes stringent safety testing procedures and must pass government safety regulations. Toy industry products are regulated at Federal and state levels and monitored by the Consumer Product Safety Commission.

What many consumers don't know, however, is that the toy industry has its own voluntary safety standard called PS72-78. It was developed by the industry trade association, Toy Manufacturers of America, Inc. (TMA), and published by the National Bureau of Standards in 1978. According to TMA, virtually all of their member-manufacturers adhere to PS72-78. The standard includes more than 100 separate tests and applies to all aspects of a plaything's design, function, engineering and production to assure that normal use and abuse of a toy will not result in a hazard that could cause an injury.

PS72-78 includes tests for sharp points and edges; small parts; flammability; toxicity (lead-in-paint); sudden loud noise levels; and a series of use-and-abuse tests that call for dropping, stretching, twisting, pulling and even biting a toy, to name a few!

An average toy truck intended for a child under three years of age will be dropped, compressed and have its wheels pulled to simulate what its owner may subject it to during play. It will also undergo a test for hazardous sharp edges. If its wheels can be removed, it's tested for small parts by placing it in a truncated right cylinder. This testing instrument is designed to resemble a young child's throat and any toy, or part of a toy, which fits completely within the cylinder should not get into the hands of children tests that will be performed on the truck.

A child's favorite teddy bear doesn't escape such seemingly cruel treatment either. In fact, because of PS72-78, teddy's eyes, nose, arms, legs and all his seams are poked and pulled at during procedures called torque and tension tests. And, if he's wearing a T-shirt with his name printed on it, the letters are tested for lead-in-paint levels.

All these procedures are performed to assure children hours of safe, enjoyable play. After all, toymakers care they have kids too! To make sure factory built-in safety continues at home, TMA offers these tips for safe toy play:

- 1) Think before you buy. Consider the child's age, interests and abilities. Use package age recommendations as a guide.
- 2) Demonstrate safe play habits. Read instructions and set a good example.
- 3) Supervise play. Consider the child's age and personality, surroundings and the toy involved. Play along and learn more about the child.
- 4) Check toys periodically for damage. If they can't be repaired, discard them.
- 5) Keep younger children away from toys intended for an older child.
- 6) After play, teach the child

SPECIAL CHRISTMAS EDITION

Santa to light Hancock County's Christmas Tree Sunday, Dec. 5

Santa Claus will officially kick-off the Christmas season Sunday, Dec. 5, at 4:30 p.m., at the Hancock County Courthouse, Main Street, Bay St. Louis.

Santa will arrive on a fire engine and will visit with all the children, according to Pat Harvill, Hancock County Chamber of Commerce special events chairman.

Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett, Waveland Mayor

John Longo and President of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors A. A. Kellar will perform the official lighting of the Christmas tree.

Local bands and choral groups will also be on hand to provide musical entertainment.

"The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce has chosen the Christmas Tree Lighting to begin the holiday season in the county, and we feel the unity of the twin cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland, along with the county, signifies the unity of all of us during this holiday season," said Harvill.

The public is urged to attend this event and bring the children to visit Santa.

Why out c

By BRENT MACE

A project costing more than $1 million is replacing all lights and elevators on the US-90 Bay St. Louis Bridge. All the bridge's 83 lights, emergency lights, have been replaced in several weeks because of the bridge project, one of the bridge renovations undertaken by the Mississippi Highway Department. The Gulf Coast, is expected to be completed by the end of the year, which will eliminate the bridge and eliminate the failures in the past.

Included in the work will be the replacement of all bridge wiring, equipment and light fixtures.

All lights on the Bay St. Louis Bridge are expected to be back in operation within two months.

A section of lights on the bridge is expected to be operating within two or three weeks, said JAD Electric, which is the contractor of Pascagoula said Friday.

The Hancock County Election Commission Friday night certified the results of the election for the Hancock County circuit clerk. The election was held on Saturday.

The special election to fill the vacancy was required due to the resignation of the former Circuit Clerk Henry. The election was held on Saturday, and the results were announced on Friday.

NSTL d associat

Roy Estess, deputy manager of the National Space Technology Laboratories, has been selected as the new Federal Administrator of the National Space Technology Laboratories Association.

The selection was announced at the MCAFA's annual awards ceremony, which was held on Thursday.

MCAFA is comprised of all federal agencies located in the Washington, D.C. area. The association was founded in 1966, and its purpose is to promote the efficient utilization of the space technology resources of the federal government.

During the 1970s he was special assistant to the NSL director, and he was involved in developing new activities for the association.

From 1977 to 1980, Estess was the director of the association.
